

Welcome!

The Deutsches Technikmuseum is spread out over spacious grounds in a variety of buildings. The museum premises are divided into two separate sections, each with its own entrance: the Main Building on Trebbiner Straße and the Ladestraße complex. Both of these exhibition areas are within a short walking distance of one another. The main entrance on Trebbiner Straße provides access to the Old Building, the New Building, the Engine Sheds, the Beamtenhaus and the Museum Park with its windmills and brewery. The Shipping, Aviation and Rail Transport exhibitions are among those located here. The Ladestraße entrance provides access to the Science Center Spectrum, as well as the Road Transport and »The Network« exhibitions. Admission tickets allow access to the entire museum grounds and all exhibitions for the whole day.

In the accessibly designed Infotheque on the 1st floor of the Old Building you can use all your senses to gain an overview of our exhibitions, topics and objects.
